

Working for Warwickshire

Previous learners have found these websites helpful ways to learn and practise English. Most also have apps for your phone.

BBC Learning English - This website has many activities. You can focus on vocabulary, grammar, pronunciation at all levels or study full courses. For those at a higher level who want listening practice and exposure to native accents, try 6 minute English

The British Council - The British Council has many free games, videos and grammar lessons which will help you to learn English from beginner level up to high level.

ESOL Courses – Interactive activities, including reading, listening, grammar and vocabulary to help improve your English. There are also online courses for Beginner and Elementary English, resources on English for Work and Life in the UK.

Elllo – This website focuses on listening. A mix of audio and video lessons on different topics. You can search for lessons on 7 different levels. A mix of American, British and other accents.

English e-Reader – Free graded reader books for adults at different levels. They be downloaded or read online. You can also download the audio so you can listen while you read.

Breaking News English – This website uses news stories to help you learn English. The news stories are available in differing levels of difficulty. You can read or listen to different news stories and complete lots of activities.

Apps for your phone are on the next page...

This list was compiled by ESOL tutors on the Migration Team at Warwickshire County Council. There are many other good places to find help with learning English outside the classroom. This list is not exhaustive. They are examples our learners have told us were useful to them. We hope some may be useful to you too.
