

Library Volunteer (Tabletop Games)

What is a Library Volunteer (Tabletop Games)?

A Library Volunteer (Tabletop Games) helps the Library Service with booked events and drop-in activities which involve tabletop games. These can be aimed specifically at an age group or suitable for all.

What's in it for you?

- Engaging with adults, young people and children from the local community
- Sharing your knowledge of tabletop games and assisting customers with rules and gameplay
- Teaching people how to play games, and supporting them to develop their skills in language, mathematics, decision making, problem solving and strategic thinking
- Volunteering as part of a team, in a fun and dynamic environment

What's involved?

With guidance from library staff, the volunteer will:

- Prepare the space and games for activities such as adult drop-ins and bookable events
- Meet and greet attendees
- Assist with or lead a tabletop activity
- Encourage the use of other facilities within their local library
- Promote membership of Warwickshire Library and Information Service

This role will suit people who

- Can communicate well with library staff, other volunteers and members of the public
- Are reliable, confident, supportive and enthusiastic about tabletop games
- Have good people skills, an approachable manner and patience
- Can follow guidelines and instructions to take on the duties and responsibilities of the role
- Have an understanding of health and safety

About Warwickshire Library and Information Service

The Library and Information Service is a vital community resource available to everyone whatever their age, tastes, needs and interests. Our libraries are comfortable welcoming places open throughout the week and weekends, with our mobile libraries taking much needed resources to rural and urban areas.

Our aim is to develop a service for the 21st century which offers the people of Warwickshire libraries that they value and use on a regular basis. Reading and learning, lending and reference along with online services will be at the core of what we offer, and our libraries will become centres of excellence and remain at the heart of the local community. We will be the "front door" for local council and community services countywide.
