Role Purpose

This role is primarily aligned to CWPT's Early Intervention in Psychosis pathway and most of your cases will be working with 14 to 65 year-olds experiencing their first episode of psychosis. The Early Intervention model of psychosis involves works with people who have experienced a first episode of psychosis, or are at risk of developing psychosis (known as an At Risk Mental State), and the aim of our service is to try to prevent further episodes.

We provide a range of evidence-based interventions to support our clients, including physical health monitoring, support for friends and family, psychological interventions and employment support. Our clients may require support with housing, finances, vocational activities and social inclusion and the successful applicant will be expected to work creatively, both with other team members and independently, to support the client achieve their goals. We aim to support people whilst promoting independence, so they no longer need input from mental health services.

If someone is identified as having experienced a possible first episode of psychosis or is at risk of developing psychosis, we carry out a detailed Comprehensive Assessment of At Risk Mental State (CAARMS). This is used to identify possible psychotic symptoms that the client may be experiencing. Our assessment process also includes screening for anxiety, depression and trauma, as well as other possible mental health issues that may be indicated. This is incorporated into a formulation to plan the clients care and identify the right pathway for the client. The team uses a recovery philosophy to collaboratively identify the individual's goals and needs and to support them towards achieving these.

The Early Intervention Team is multi-disciplinary and works in a holistic way to ensure the biological, psychological and social needs of clients are met. The team includes managerial staff and administrative staff, medical staff (comprising consultants and doctors), clinical psychologists, mental health nurses, social workers, occupational therapists (OT's) and support workers.

We work closely with the trust's safeguarding team, as well as local social care teams, to ensure any safeguarding concerns are raised and dealt with in a timely and effective manner.

Although your primary role will be within the EI service, a principle of flexibility underpins our Mental Health Social Work offer and staff may occasionally be asked to work with people with a wide range of mental disorders and complex social care needs.

As part of a multi-disciplinary team your focus will be on providing a range of strengths-based social work interventions underpinned by a philosophy of recovery, building resilience, social inclusion and maximising community and social engagement.

You will be seconded to Coventry and Warwickshire Partnership Trust (CWPT) under a successful section 75 partnership agreement to work in an integrated mental health team alongside other disciplines including, but not limited to, Psychiatrists, Nurses, Occupational Therapists and Psychologists.
