

Soon I will be in a bubble at school.

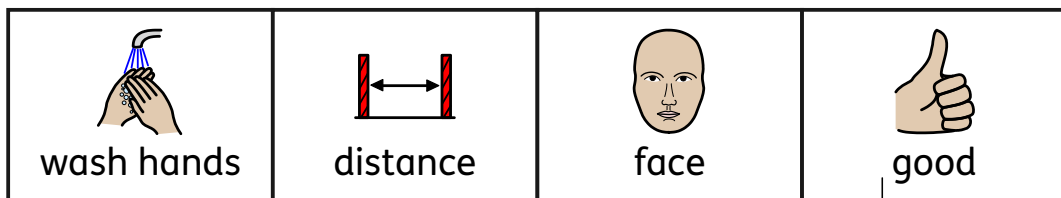

This is strange - but it doesn't mean a real bubble. At school we are going to stay in the same small group of people through the school day. This will be my bubble.

We are going to stay together to work, play and eat. All the children in my group will use the same toilets.

We are in an invisible bubble because we are being protected by not doing things in large groups.

It is good to remember that washing hands, staying apart from each other and not touching our face are good ways to keep everyone safe.
