Description :

Access to this walk is at the north corner of the Recreation Ground [A] by the cricket nets. This leads into the woods behind Waller Close. It then follows an earthen path approximately 1metre wide through the wood northwest until the brook is reached. The south bank of the brook is followed through the wood in a westerly direction until a road bridge is reached.

The walk passes under the bridge to pick up a smaller path approximately ½metre wide which follows the south side of the brook until a stone bridge is reached. The walk turns right over the bridge and the left to follow the north bank of the brook until it reaches the lakes and overflow, northwest of the Police Headquarters. The lakes are passed on their northern edge on a small path used by fishermen until a wooden bridge is reached. The walk crosses this bridge and leads on through a gap in the fence to link up with Public Footpath W179A at [B].

Briefly, why do you believe this route is a public right of way?

Presumed Dedication

Members of the Public were using the route continuously for an uninterrupted period of over 20 years in the belief that the use was of right.

Section 53 (8)(c)(i)

1 List your evidence and references

Until October 2002 there were no signs or obstructions preventing the use of this route.

Yard In fact the fence at the end of the walk has only just been renewed.

When my husband (ex) worked at the Headquarters in 1989 there were no issues concerning the public using paths around the Headquarters.
