

NATIONAL PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATION FOR HEADSHIP (NPQH)

Our next NPQH course starts in February 2017. The application window is open now and closes on 9th December.

Why take the National Professional Qualification for Headship?

NPQH remains the first choice qualification for anyone who wishes to become a headteacher or principal. Designed in collaboration with some of the country's leading headteachers and academics, NPQH will develop talented leaders from all backgrounds and ensure high quality outcomes for pupils and students.

Who are we?

Leadership Live is a partnership between several Teaching School Alliances (representing primary, secondary and special schools) and Warwick University. We have been able to bring together a team of outstanding school leaders from a range of diverse contexts who will play a central role in delivering the NPQH.

We are uniquely well placed to deliver the NPQH since several members of our delivery team played a significant role in the writing, designing and quality assuring of the modules that will make up the NPQH. Our course leaders include Peter Kent and Gwen Temple, who between them combine experience in delivering leadership courses for the National College, universities and professional associations.

Why complete NPQH with us?

- Much of our course will be delivered by headteachers who have a proven track record of outstanding leadership.
- At the heart of our programme will also be the opportunity to undertake placements in the wide range of outstanding secondary, primary and special schools that make up Leadership Live.
- Placements will be available in diverse contexts such as urban, rural and faith schools.
- As well as face to face learning, the course will also include online learning and support from experienced coaches.
- Our NPQH offers the opportunity to gain accreditation towards the prestigious Warwick Master's Degree in Educational Leadership and Management. The Warwick Master's Degree is regarded as a market leader within the profession and this is the first time that NPQH graduates have also been able to gain substantial credits towards this highly regarded qualification.

What is the cost?

NPQH is being delivered for £2,095.
